Rights & Responsibilities of Students

As a recipient of Federal Student Aid, students have certain rights they should exercise and certain responsibilities they must meet. Knowing what they are will put students in a better position to make decisions about their educational goals, and how they can best achieve them.

Students' Rights:

1. The right to know what Financial Aid programs are available at the school.
2. The right to know the deadlines for submitting applications for each of the financial aid programs available.
3. The right to know how financial aid will be distributed, how decisions on the distributions are made, and the basis for these decisions.
4. The right to know who financial need was determined. This includes how costs for tuition and fees, room and board, transportation, books and supplies, personal and miscellaneous expenses are calculated when determining the cost of attendance.
5. The right to know how resources (tuition assistance, outside scholarships, benefits) are considered when determining financial need.
6. The right to know how much of the financial need as determined by the institution has been met.
7. The right to request an explanation of the various programs in the student financial aid package.
8. The right to know your school's refund policy.
9. The right to know what portion of your financial aid award package must be repaid, and what portion is grant aid. If the aid is a loan, students have the right to know what the interest rate is, the total amount that must be repaid, the payback procedures, the length of time they have to repay the loan, and when repayment is expected to begin.
10. The right to know how the school determines whether students are making satisfactory academic progress, and what happens if they are not.
11. The right to view the contents of school's student financial aid file in accordance with the Federal Educational Right to Privacy Act (FERPA).
12. The right for all documents submitted to the financial aid office to be confidential.

Students' Responsibilities

1. Must abide by all regulations determined by the U.S. Department of Education.
2. Must complete all application forms accurately and submit them in a timely manner.
3. Must provide correct information. Financial aid may be terminated if it is discovered that there was fraud or misrepresentation by the student on any financial aid application. In most instances, mis-reporting information on financial aid application forms is a violation of the law and may be considered a criminal offense, which could result in an indictment under the Criminal Code.
4. Must provide all additional documentation, verification corrections and/or new information requested by either the Financial Aid Office.
5. Must be responsible for reading and understanding all forms that they are asked to sign and accept responsibility for all agreements that are signed.
6. Must be aware of and comply with the institutional deadlines, these include: financial aid, payment due date, and registration periods.
7. Must be aware of the school's refund procedures.
8. Must maintain satisfactory academic progress.
9. Must understand the consequences of defaulting on a student loan.
10. Must keep their contact information current by notifying the Registrar's Office.
11. Must notify the Financial Aid Office of any changes to their financial aid application or status.
12. Must understand that Financial Aid awards may be changed if estimated dollars are not received from the U.S. Department of Education, if errors in awards were made, or if funding levels are modified
