

We are excited to announce a new service called Mobility Printing. This will allow you to print documents directly from your own laptop, phone or tablet. It works with any Windows, Mac, Android, or iOS device. Your device must be connected to the NSCC wifi network to be able to print.

Get started at print.northweststate.edu and follow the instructions provided on the page.

Print jobs sent from your devices will be sent to one of the 6 color release stations on campus.

Release stations are printers that hold your document until you log in with your N#. You can print, make copies, and scan documents to your student email account from any of the release stations at these locations:

- 1st floor A Building, near the Success Center and East Entrance
- 1st floor A Building, in the Library
- 2nd floor A Building, near the Open Lab and Arts & Sciences offices
- 1st floor C Building, across from the Advising Center
- 1st floor E Building, near CAD Lab (E109)
- 2nd floor E Building, near the Biology Lab

If you have any questions about using the Mobility Printing feel free to contact us at helpdesk@northweststate.edu or stop by the IT Helpdesk in room A223.
